Founded in 1879, the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies has for almost a century and a half been the leading organization for the study of Greece with an international membership across all ages and walks of life.

It offers an ambitious public events programme, supports activities in schools and universities, maintains a world class library and publishes world-leading journals in the field.

For a very modest subscription SPHS offers a large and growing suite of benefits to its members. All Hellenic Society members are entitled to:

- ❖ receive their own copies of JHS and AR
- ❖ access not only the Society's publications but also a wide range of international Hellenic journals online through the JSTOR electronic archive

- ❖ use the London library and borrow the Society's book and slides – either in person or by post – while living or resident in the UK
- ❖ attend all the Society's lectures and other events which include a series of London lectures, a national programme of other lectures in collaboration with the various local branches of the Classical Association,
- ❖ access the online archive of specially commissioned articles and vidcast lectures.

Membership Rates

Full £47 (£46 if you pay by Direct Debit)

Student £25

Student membership is available to students registered at all Universities and other institutions of higher education. It is limited to six years, even if the member is registered as a student for a longer period. After six years of Student Associate membership, the full member rate applies.

Members who join after 1 September may either join for that year and receive the journals published in November, or join for the following year, in which case they can use the Library, borrow books and enjoy the other benefits from the date of joining, but will not receive their journals until the November of the following year. Please indicate clearly on the application form whether you wish to join for the current year or next year.

LIFE MEMBERSHIP: UK £235

(available to those who are 65 or over and who have been members of the Society for at least five years.)
