Dear Macmillan,

I had your letter of the 15th with its interesting enclosure, and have sent a cheque for £10 to Roberts & Co of the Tibetan Exploration Fund.

Mr Rushforth was in hand has in Rome, and gave my daughters and me a very interesting morning in the Forum.

We are so glad to hear that your son is getting on - and I sincerely hope that Mr Macmillan and he will be benefitted by Eastbourne.

In somewhat shatened out holiday owing to Helen having an attack of neuralgia in her ear, which was very painful: and when we reached the place last Friday. She developed an attack of malarial fever, which has kept her in bed since. But I am glad to say that she now seems to be getting over it nicely.

With kindest regards from sincerely
Edmund B. Thomas

I should no doubt have a message from Kelen - but I am ~~left~~ ^{after} having said goodbye to her for the night - We hope to get down to Isldenae for Kuma.
